Nick Botting has an instinctive ability to capture some of life's finest moments. He is a master of plein air painting, often spotted painting alongside his trusted canine critic, Raffa. From the bars and theatres of London, major sporting events, or to the holiday beaches of Cornwall which so many of us treasure, he captures perfectly the atmosphere of the place and people who inhabit the scene.

Primarily, his paintings are about everyday life – they are a joy to live with on our walls and often evoke happy memories of previous experience. Nick makes a point of painting directly from the subject which lends his paintings a profound sense of spontaneity, place and time. It is no surprise his work is in popular demand from collectors across the globe.

Nick's pieces feature in various collections worldwide: Lords Cricket Ground, FA Headquarters, London, Lord's Museum at MCC, The Really Useful Theatre Group, The Duchy of Lancaster, Melbourne Cricket Ground and Hatfield House.

I hope you enjoy this wonderful selection of paintings I have chosen directly from the studio.

With very best wishes,
